Our Response to COVID-19

First Financial is continuing to monitor the evolving situation regarding COVID-19 in our area. Like you, we are deeply concerned and want to do all we can to help keep our members, employees, and the local community safe. We are continuing to monitor the situation as it evolves, and we will notify our members should anything change regarding any of our locations.

Rest assured that all First Financial locations are actively following U.S. Centers for Disease Control and Prevention guidelines to maintain a healthy and safe environment.

Please take a moment to read our response on COVID-19 and learn more about the steps we are taking.

Coronavirus Concerns? Consider Past Health Crises

During the last week of February 2020, the S&P 500 lost 11.49% - the worst week for stocks since the 2008 financial crisis - only to jump by 4.6% on the first Monday in March. By all accounts, the drop was largely driven by ever-increasing fears about the potential effects of the coronavirus (COVID-19) and its ultimate impact on the global economy.

Although many market observers contend that the market was overvalued and due for a correction anyway, the unpredictability, strength, and suddenness of the historic tumble was unnerving for even the most seasoned investors.
